CLASS HEADS PLAN FOR "H" AND ARBOR DAY

FRESHMEN MAY PUT LETTER ON HILL; JUNIORS TO PLANT TREES

Definite plans for an "H" on the hillside back of the University campus, and for trees to be planted by the juniors, and the matter of class insignia were discussed at the meeting of class presidents and vice presidents held Thursday.

It was unanimously agreed by those present that it would be a good thing to have the "H" on one of the neighboring hillside. The project is scheduled to come up for discussion at the A.S.U.H. meeting Friday, so that all students will be able to take part. The group of class officers who acted as a committee representing the student body considered all angles of the situation and decided to have the matter presented to the A.S.U.H. rather than to the several classes individually.

A committee consisting of Rebecca McVeagh '24 and Gwenfreed Allen '24 has been appointed to discover and remove any objections that may be found outside the University, as it is feared by some that the Outdoor Circle will oppose the construction of an "H" and it is the duty of this committee to obtain the approval of the Outdoor Circle and to remove opposition in other quarters.

"Prof. C. B. Andrews," stated Francis Bowers, president of the junior class, "will be glad to see that the surveying is done properly. There are a lot of rocks for making the "H," which can, then, be whitewashed. The green on the hillside will give us the combination of white and green which we want."

"So far we have no class dues," Simpson McNicoll, president of the freshman class explained. "We can guarantee to furnish the whitewash. If whitewash is available, all right. If not, we can put on a small class due and raise enough money to buy the whitewash."

In the opinion of those present, the freshman class might well undertake to do this, as it was pointed out that the three other classes are already doing something. The seniors and juniors helped in the campaign which resulted in the swimming tank and the sophomores are furnishing the bleachers.

Such questions as the possibility of getting the land for the "H," are to be investigated before Friday so that the class officers can present a well organized plan to the students.

It was decided to let the juniors consult Mr. C. S. Judd, special instructor in forestry at the University, as to the most suitable type of tree. The arbor day will take place some time in April or early in May. Italian cyprus, pink showers, ironwood and Japanese pine were mentioned as suggestions in selecting the trees.

The desirability of having class insignia was also discussed. However, it was believed that this point would be brought up for consideration at the next A.S.U.H. meeting.

Those present at Thursday's meeting were Henry Bindt '23, Dora Broadbent '23, Francis Bowers '24, Doris Mossman '24, Dyfrig Forbes '25, Katherine McLane '25, and Simpson McNicoll '26. Samuel Poepoe, vice-president of the freshman class, was not present.

MUST UPHOLD CONSTITUTION SAYS SPEAKER

PROHIBITION IS EFFECTIVE, DE-CLARES DR. GORDON AT ASSEMBLY

Appealing to the students to uphold the Constitution of the United States, the sanctity of law and the honor of the nation by obeying and respecting the 18th amendment as well as all other laws and regulations of the land, Dr. Gifford Gordon, who has traveled throughout the United States for 18 months studying the effectiveness of the Volstead Act, emphatically declared that all the talk about the prohibition being not effective was merely "loose talk," at the assembly Friday morning.

With definite figures obtained from reliable sources, Dr. Gordon proved that since the adoption of the prohibition there has been a tremendous decrease in the number of criminals, drunkenness, deaths due to alcoholism contrasted with a steady increase in savings, good health and family happiness in all sections of the country.

"During the 59 days of my stay in New York, where I was purposely on the lookout for street drunkenness and other evidences of the violation of the 18th amendment, I did not come across a single drunkard in the main thoroughfares of the city. If that had been in Australia I could not have stayed in any city for 59 minutes without seeing a drunkard."

Hospitals for the treatment of drunkards, city prisons, homes for the helpless have either, as in many instances, gone out of business completely or decreased in number and size in a large number of the cities which he visited and investigated conditions, according to the speaker. All these were verified by Dr. Gordon with statistics and statements from government authorities.

Statements to the effect that the 18th amendment, being adopted at the crest of war time spirit was not the result of the people's real desire, were refuted by the Australian anti-saloonist. In this connection he stated that before the United States entered the war, 33 states had already adopted prohibition, and that members of Congress had already been elected by that time who knew definitely that the question was coming and who were on that account well prepared for the amendment.

"America can lead the rest of the world in this prohibition movement, if she will see to it that the law is strictly enforced," Dr. Gordon stated. "The future of the nation is in your hands, students. I appeal to you for unswerving loyalty and respect for law, and for the upholding of your nation's honor and glory."

Before Dr. Gordon's talk, short announcements were made by Wendell Brown, photographer of the University annual, and Merlyn Forbes, president of the Y.M.C.A.

EXHIBITION DAY FEBRUARY 22

The R.O.T.C. unit of the University of Hawaii has accepted the invitation from Governor W. R. Farrington to participate in a parade to be held February 22, to feature the National Guard, R.O.T.C., and Boy Scouts with the aim of giving a better idea to the people of what is being done to train the young men of Hawaii physically

TRIP TO COAST FOR U. H. GRID MEN THIS FALL LOOKS ALMOST CERTAIN

"Deans" May Fight With Stanford on Christmas

By KENNETH C. LAU

Should the present indications of playing a return football game with Pomona College become a reality the University of Hawaii will send its team to fight the Sagehens at the Tournament of Roses Stadium, Pasadena, California.

Information from the mainland carried the news that the Claremonters have already accepted the idea of a return game with "the fighting Deans" to be played in California on Thanksgiving Day. Negotiations have been under way ever since Pomona met her defeat at the hands of the University of Hawaii last Christmas. It is of the general opinion that final arrangements will be completed very soon.

NOTICE

On recommendation of the Student Council, the Faculty of the University has adopted the following rule:

Any student gambling on the premises of the University shall be placed on probation for one month with the usual notice home. On second offense the student shall be dropped from the University.

Dance Friday Night to Raise Bleacher Money

The first dance of the semester will be given by the sophomores Friday evening, February 9, beginning at 7.30 in Hawaii Hall for the purposes of giving the students a chance to forget the miseries and blunders experienced in the recent examination and of raising some money for the tank bleacher fund of the University.

Tickets will be sold at 75 cents a piece to gentlemen and 25 cents to the ladies. The University orchestra, led by Carl Farden, promises to furnish unique music full of the jazziest jazz.

The present sophomore class, not satisfied with simply enjoying the benefits and the pleasure derived from the swimming tank which was built in 1920, largely through the efforts and sacrifices of the students and friends of the University, which include the present seniors and juniors, last year started to raise some money to put bleachers around the tank. The fund was begun, but up to the present time the necessary amount has not been obtained. The class hopes, however, that enough will be received from the sale of tickets for the Friday night dance so that work on the bleachers can be begun immediately. All students and friends of the University are asked by the sophomore class to help the project by coming to the dance, since by so doing they will not only enjoy the evening but will aid toward pushing along a very worthy cause.

In addition to the parade there will be an exhibition at the palace grounds showing the various phases and forms of military training. Each unit of the R.O.T.C. will be given five minutes in which to put on a special stunt.

$1500 has been raised at the University during the tennis court campaign up to noon yesterday.

The proposal of the Deans' visit to California for the Thanksgiving classic was put to the faculty and regents, who all agreed in the affirmative a few days ago. Such a great undertaking, if finally settled, will mark a new era for the University. It will advertise the University in more than one way and will also be a great step in making greater traditions for Hawaii.

The game at Pasadena on Thanksgiving Day, if the plan is carried through, will absolutely not affect the annual two games in the islands played by the University and by another local eleven against a mainland team. So far as it is known, the Christmas game this year will even be greater than ever before. The University is preparing to meet a stronger opposition from the mainland.

An invitation has been officially sent to have Stanford play against Hawaii on December 25. Should the Cardinals refuse to accept the invitation, a game with the Oregon Aggies will be a dead certainty. The latter has already signified its intention to come, as they have long wanted to see Hawaii.

Either of the two mainland teams will offer a fine brand of football, and will undoubtedly draw a big crowd. The Aggies, under the famous coach, Rutherford, belong to the Pacific Coast conference. The Cardinals are coached by the well-known Werner system. According to mainland football circles Stanford will probably have a weaker team than the one it produced last season. However, the Cardinals are a dangerous eleven as shown in their battles with the California Golden Bears and against other Pacific Coast elevens.

If the arrangements are finally settled, the Deans will sail for Los Angeles on November 17, in time to have a week's rest or so before the Thanksgiving game. The party will again sail for home on December 7. Some twenty men, including Coach Klum, will make the trip.

STATEMENT FROM THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council states that up to noon Saturday it had not been notified of any cheating in the recent examinations. As this was a week after the last examinations, the Council now does not expect to hear of any dishonesty. It congratulates the students on having such a splendid record and hopes that this record can be kept unblemished. The Council wants merely to remind the students to guard against making too much noise during examinations.

Basset at Literary Meeting Explains Newspaper Writing

Outstanding differences between newspaper and fiction writings, qualities of a good news story, news values and other phases of journalistic work were presented in an interesting talk given by Mr. Willard K. Bassett, secretary to Mayor Wilson, and former newspaperman, at the meeting of the Literary society held Friday noon in Hawaii hall.

"In a news story, you tell all the important things you want to say at the beginning, in the first paragraph," said Mr. Bassett. "This is just the opposite of what the short story writer or the novelist would do. The fiction writer will let you wait for the cream of the story until the very last, and sometimes you do not know what the story was about even after reading the last paragraph."

Mr. Bassett gave a very detailed and careful explanation of the style of news writing, with many examples to illustrate his points.

Some inside "dope" in regard to the method the newspaper people employ in dealing with men, politicians and others who do not give the information which the reporters are trying to get, was also handed out by Mr. Bassett to the members of the society and a few persons of the Ka Leo staff who were present at the meeting. In connection with this, the speaker pointed out that newspapers could ruin a man or raise him high in the estimation of the public.

"More than anything else which a good reporter must possess is tact," stated Mr. Bassett. "Tact is what counts most in newspaper work; it means more than the knowledge of writing or the number of years of experience. Without this quality, a reporter is a failure."

A short business meeting in which six new members were voted in, took place after the talk. It was decided that the policies of the Editor of Ka Palapala would be followed in the matter of having pictures of the society members in the annual.

Women Students to Help Build "H"

A unanimous decision to render all possible assistance to the men if they undertake to construct an "H" on the Manoa hillside, was reached by the women of the University at a special meeting Thursday.

Rebecca McVeagh '24 put the proposition before the meeting, stating that the construction of such an "H" would cost practically nothing, and therefore, could be carried on without interfering with the tennis court drive. Gwenfreed Allen '24 spoke of the "C"

C'est la Vie Says Our Friend Mizpah

(By MIZPAH)

With a feeling of untold gratitude in your heart toward the kind pros. who didn't flunk you, and with solemn resolve to turn over a new leaf before it's too late, you enter the library armed with a shining new notebook (somehow you overlooked getting one last term), determined to read, mark, learn, and inwardly digest local government between now and ten o'clock. You inquire of the librarian where this reserve shelf is you've been hearing about and then start out looking for that reference book. It isn't there, of course, but, undaunted, you choose another which has an intellectual sounding title, and prepare for work.

Eagerly you search through the index, find the very thing you need, and start concentrating. To your surprise it really is interesting! After five more minutes you shudder to think of all you've been missing.

While you are still feeling optimistic two innocent young things sit down beside you and, to all intents and purposes, plan to spend the rest of the hour in hashing over that party you couldn't go to. You're dying to hear the news—and how can one concentrate on town government when one is perishing—actually perishing—with curiosity? But somehow you stick it out, and finally the two young things do go (just at the most interesting part, too). You sigh, and go on trying to absorb knowledge.

About this time your dear enemy, who seems to take a peculiar delight in taking the joy out of life, slams H. G. Wells down on your head. While still unconscious, it occurs to you that that's why it's so soft (your head, of course—not H. G.). The dear enemy laughs in fiendish glee and gently removes your chair. You are forced to choose for a seat either the floor or nothing. As the latter is not practical (try it and see), you sit on the floor. Well, one can't remain on said floor forever, and you therefore arise and shine (shine?).

"Call up 3693 in five minutes," someone whispers over your shoulder. For the next five minutes you try to figure out who lives at 3693 (ye gods, who?). You call up 3693. Wrong number. In fact, there is no such number * * You wonder if the dear enemy values his life, liberty and pursuit of happiness. The bell rings—and what you know about town government is conspicuous by its absence. Alas! c'est la vie.

at the California and the large part that it plays in the tradition of the institution.

Should the construction be definitely undertaken, a number of women students would be organized to provide some music as well as the "eats," Doris Mossman '24 promised.

Cast For "Mr. Tim Passes By" Selected

Following the "try-outs" held Sunday afternoon for the play "Mr. Pim Passes By," which is to be presented by the Dramatic club May 6 and 7, the following cast has been selected by the judges, who were Kathrine McLane '25, chairman of the producing committee; Mr. H. Lewers, and Dr. A. L. Andrews:

"Mr. Pimm Passes By" is a clean comedy and has been successfully presented last year on the mainland.

Judges Appointed For Ka Leo Name Cut Contest

A committee of judges, Miss Minnie Chipman, chairman; Dora Broadbent '23, Francis Bowers '24, Dyfrig Forbes '25, and Simpson McNicoll '26 has been appointed to select the best design submitted in the contest being conducted for a cut of the name of the University newspaper. The principle followed was to appoint from each class the ranking officer not connected with Ka Leo o Hawaii.

From the preliminary designs handed in, this committee will choose ten. These will, then, be done in ink and from them the same committee will select three. The ones finally selected will be submitted to the subscribers for a vote, and the one receiving the highest number of votes will be declared chosen.

Artistic appearance, originality and fitness are the qualities desired in the designs of the cut. All designs are to have a ratio of height to length of not less than one to nine and not more than two to nine. The preliminary designs must be submitted to the editor by noon Feb. 17, and the final by noon Feb. 28. Probably the election to determine which is to be chosen will be held early in March.

Three Plays to be Given at "Dramatic Night" on Feb. 21

"Trimplet," one of Stewart Walker's portmanteau plays, is the one act play the Theta Alpha Phi Society is presenting on "Dramatic Night," Feb. 21, at the University, together with the other two plays, "The Cup of Tea" by Florence Ryerson, and "The Silly Ass," by Adelaide C. Rowell.

The chairmen are busy rehearsing their casts and promise a "rip-roaring" evening's entertainment on the 21st of the month.

Constructing the "H" will not interfere with the drive for tennis courts, not call for money and because it will be finished before there is a chance for students to work on the tennis courts. The "H" would not be a cheap advertisement because it would become a part of the traditions of the institution just as the Big C at California has become a part of their traditions, and it would commemorate the laying of the corner stone of Hawaii hall just as the statue before the Judiciary building commemorates Kamehameha I, according to those present.

A concert will be given at the Mission Memorial hall this Saturday by two Russian girls, to which University students are welcome. No admission will be charged.

Pomona Paper Praises Hawaii Football Men

Truman Douglas, the sport editor of The Student Life of Pomona College, praised the University of Hawaii football team in the January 10 issue. The article says that Hawaii played stellar football from start to finish, while the Pomona men could not seem to hit their stride.

The following paragraphs are extracts from the article:

"Daggs scooped it (the fumbled ball) up and raced fifty yards to a touchdown. He was pursued by the entire Hawaii team and some of their fastest men started close behind him, but Daggs was too fleet, and they couldn't touch him.

"The islanders had a splendid defense against the Blue and White passes and only one pass was completed.

Wise Surprises Nixon

"For the Hawaiians, Wise, Lambert and Morse were the stars. In the opinion of Coach Nixon, Wise is one of the cleverest players he has ever seen. His work in all departments of the game is good, and he was responsible for a large amount of the yardage gained by the island eleven.

Deans Underrated

"The Hawaiian team as a whole was clearly underrated. Writing in this connection Braven Dyer says: 'The University has a great outfit and would ruin us no matter where we were playing. It seems as if the teams coming here should be at least three touchdowns better than their opponents, in order to account for the trip, weather and change of diet; and we were never three times as strong or three touchdowns better than the Deans, as they are called.'

"Nixon was frank to admit the excellence of the island team. We quote again from the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, which reports the Pomona mentor as saying: 'This Hawaii team could beat anything in the Southern California Conference. We didn't expect to meet any team like this, and I must hand it to the University of Hawaii for ability.'

"The Hawaiian papers spoke of the

NATIONAL GUARD WALLOPS VARSITY

By Y. GOTO

Coach Otto Klum's quintet was defeated in the opening game of the season Saturday night at the Armory by the National Guard team, 37 to 27.

The game was fast and clean. During the first part of the initial canto, the score was 4 to 4, and the rubber bag was passed back and forth without any result. For several moments it was a close heat, and everybody expected that the game would be a tight affair, but that lasted only for a few minutes, for after that the Guards started a rapid fire series of "bullseye" shots and never lost the lead, and gradually pulled ahead until at the end of the first half, the score was 22 to 13 in their favor.

The Guards played a better game than the University in all departments. However, taking into consideration that the men on the Varsity teams are practically all new, they showed up better than was to have been expected from them.

Aside from Dwight Rugh, the speedy Varsity forward, other forwards were rather slow and demonstrated inaccurate shooting. Rugh played a dandy game, and made 12 points, while Rusty Blaisdell made 4, Thompson 2, Farden 6 and Hemmely 4.

Thompson played a good center game, making a sensational long shot from the center of the court. Wise played a comparatively constant guard in spite of the fact that he is a "malihini" in this branch of athletics. With constant practice and further improvement, it is probable that he would make a good guard. Dyfrig Forbes and Farden played well also.

clean type of game that the Sagehens played. Certainly the reputation of Pomona suffered not one whit by the emigration of the Blue and White football team."

John Matsumura '23, managing editor of this paper, has resigned his position, effective today.

Clique Evil

No organization on the campus, to all appearances, has led a stormier career than the Dramatic club. As nearly as can be observed, this has been due to the belief, widespread among certain members of the club and many persons who are not members, that the club is being dominated by a clique. Commendable it is that, despite this difficulty, the club has continued to be one of our most active.

In every human endeavor it is true that there are a few persons who are most interested, sometimes only one, and a great number who are quite indifferent. The Dramatic club is no exception. It has its few enthusiastic leaders. So does every other student organization.

One of the pronounced evils on our campus is the general belief in cliques and the thoughtless habit of attributing every disagreeable situation to the existence of a clique. The best remedy for this is to remember the evil only enough to act as though it did not exist. To forget it entirely would be dangerous and to talk about it incessantly is irritating.

Whether in the Dramatic club or any other relationship we can stand for fair play and sportsmanship at all times by attending the meetings we are expected to, by thinking clearly and by insisting upon the maintenance of that democratic spirit which is essential to our campus. If our personal ambitions and desires are not realized, we can only bow to what is best for all concerned.

Throughout our student activities let each one strive for what he believes is right. This can be done easiest if we are not governed in the least by the notion of cliques.

Tennis Drive

The students of the University have recognized the need for some new tennis courts and have set about to fill this need. Now we are confronted by the serious question, "Are we going to fail in an undertaking?"

Big attainments we have won. To scan the successes of the last few years makes one marvel. Surely, the spirit of the University has become thoroughly imbued with the determination that any worthy project undertaken cannot fail.

Should we fall short of the three thousand dollars mark, we injure our reputation correspondingly. Should we drop this matter before it is finished, we are preparing the way to forget uncompleted enterprises after leaving college. The name of our Alma Mater and our own ability to make a success of whatever we undertake, are at stake.

The tennis courts will be of direct benefit to those who play. But they will be of indirect benefit to everybody who lends a hand. Helping to get the tennis courts is really a minor matter. The big point is that we are helping to build up our university.

TRAINING CAMP

The annual training camp for the R.O.T.C. is expected to be held at Schofield Barracks beginning probably June 5, and lasting for a month. Advanced course students will be required to attend the camp, and 15 per cent of the basic course students may be authorized to attend. The government will pay five cents per mile travelling expenses and will also provide food and all other accommodations at camp, and in addition will pay one dollar a day to advanced course students. It is hoped that as many as possible would make good this opportunity to attend the training camp.

To all male members of the University of Hawaii the R.O.T.C. supply office is offering a few dozen pairs of genuine army shoes at a very small cost. As the supply is very limited it is advised that those who wish to take advantage of this offer go instantly to the R.O.T.C. office, Hawaii hall, to avoid the inevitable rush.

By Saturday noon of this week all persons must indicate whether a new cut is to be used for the 1923 Ka Palapala or last year's picture will be used. New cuts $2 each, $1 if last year's picture is used. Further announcements later.
